

This site offers a range of gardening content for consumers and educators, all selected from science-based sources. We have searched the "garden web" and cut through the weeds so you can find the most useful information quickly. If we missed a favorite site or you have ideas to make our site more useful, let us know.

If you are a Master Gardener, the MEMBERS ONLY site opens May 14. We hope to surprise and delight you with the new section. Our hope is this site becomes a gathering point for our community -- interested in sharing its collective wisdom with fellow gardeners and the public.

Now that you are here, take a few minutes and explore. More features will be coming soon so stop by often and don't forget to sign up for the $100 prize to celebrate our new site.
